

Implementing Agencies

Contributed by Chris Paterson
Wednesday, 15 November 2006

Eligible Implementing Entities for South China Sea Project Training Courses The South China Sea Project Training Courses will be developed and delivered by Eligible Implementing Entities (EIEs). In the context of the South China Sea Project's Training Programme, an EIE could be an existing Specialised Executing Agency, an organisation associated with the South China Sea Project, or others, as appropriate. EIEs must submit proposals to the Project Co-ordinating Unit (PCU) for selection as an Implementing Entity for a South China Sea Project Training Course.

EIEs should familiarise themselves with information available on <http://training.unepscs.org> about the South China Sea Project, the Training Programme, and the guidelines for submitting a proposal. Failure to comply with application guidelines will significantly detract from a proponent's chance of success.

Details relating to the submission of proposals can be accessed by visiting the Submit a Proposal section of this website.